Rotary Meeting Notes – 11-28-2018

Mark Condrey opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance and Bob Biggins offered an invocation. Dave selected The Carpenters' "Bless the Beasts and the Children" as the song of the day. Rusty plans on attending the international Rotary convention in June. Mike Sills requested volunteers for Rotary set-up each week. There will be a Rotary board meeting next week. Bob Rogow quizzed the group on college football bowl games.

Marc Robbins introduced himself as the speaker. He talked about the Making Noise for Food and Toys event set for Dec. 13 from 7-11 p.m. at the EKU Center for the Arts. This event started at the Regal Beagle seven years ago. At that time, Grace Now and the Fireman's Fund for Needy Children distributed funds from the event to children in need throughout Madison County. Some of the proceeds now go to God's Outreach, an organization that also distributes the money from the event to children in need. Additional funds from the event go to the Shop with a Cop program. The Making Noise for Food and Toys event accepts donations from sponsors, and funds are also raised through a silent auction and a raffle. Marc also talked about the musicians who donate their time and skills to the event.

Dakari explained that the next bell ringing for the Salvation Army will take place on Dec. 16. Nick Jurich won the raffle. Mark Condrey led us in the four-way test to close the meeting.
